

Ike Ikokwu

The ‘Unlock Your Purpose Now’ Speaker Professional “SHORT BIO”

(first name is pronounced “Mike” but without the “M”; last name is pronounced “e-ko-ku”; rhymes with “He Owes You”; The “I” in his last name is pronounced as an “E” and the “w” is silent).

Ike Ikokwu is a nationally recognized money expert, international speaker, best-selling author and successful entrepreneur who has previously held licenses as a CPA, CFP, Insurance and Investment Advisor. After overcoming many setbacks in life and in business, Ike dedicated his life to helping others do the same and achieve satisfying success and significance both personally and professionally.

With over 20 years serving clients, Ike helps entrepreneurs and individuals unlock their purpose so they can experience money and life abundantly. He does this through his signature “money language mastery” private and group coaching programs.

Ike’s varied leadership experiences from his roles as a Father, Husband, Professional, Entrepreneur, Money Expert and Minister, makes him an indispensable resource to many. His advice has been called upon by FOX Business, Chicago Tribune, FOX News, The Huffington Post, First Business, Christian Television Network, WATC 57 Atlanta and numerous other radio and print media outlets.

Ike is the best-selling author of “Winning The Money Game: Separating The Myths From The Truth – Everything You Don’t Know About Achieving Financial Independence. He’s also the founder of Kingdom Millionaire Institute, a financial education, coaching, mentoring and consulting firm.

Ike resides in the Northern suburbs of Atlanta and enjoys traveling, reading, and following his favorite professional tennis and basketball players. When not working, you will likely find Ike at home or out enjoying time with his wife, Emma, and their children, Ella, Zion and Joelle.